Dear Ms. Hatfield,

It was a pleasure speaking with you yesterday. This letter is in response to the request for public comments on the ten-year energy plan for New Hampshire that will be drafted in November. In the coming years I am confident that renewable energy and wind power in particular will gain increasing significance in meeting the energy needs of the region. It is exciting to be at the ground level of these efforts and to talk with forward thinking individuals within government such as you.

If you consider the overwhelming need for new generation and diversification of our energy sources in light of recent geopolitical events, the passing of stricter environmental standards that may force the retirement of older plants, and the recent ISO New England reports that question the ability of gas supply lines to meet the needs of planned generation; I feel you would agree that wind power should at least be considered as part of New Hampshire's energy mix.

I have included general information regarding the huge advances in wind power technology since the early 1980's, as well as information related to the need for wind power to meet future energy needs in New England. To learn more about our company and wind power in general kindly review the following web sites:

www.ivpc.com

www.upcgroup.org

I look forward to speaking with you in the future and wonder if you are able to arrange any meetings with other top level officials in New Hampshire who might be interested in learning more about the potential of wind power. Similarly if you hear of any meetings or forums in which the ten-year energy plan or renewable energy options will be discussed I would appreciate if you would consider notifying me of them. I can be reached at timcaffyn@hotmail.com or by phone at 1-508-394-8316.

Thanks again for taking time from your busy schedule to speak with me.

Sincerely,

Timothy Caffyn, Esq.
