WORK BEGINS ON NH ROUTE 101 PROJECT IN BEDFORD
INTERSECTION IMPROVEMENTS AT HARDY AND JENKINS ROADS

The New Hampshire Department of Transportation announces work is getting underway on improvements to the intersection of NH Route 101 and Hardy and Jenkins Roads in Bedford. This project involves the addition of turning lanes, drainage improvements and the installation of traffic signals at the intersection.

Initial work beginning the week of June 9, 2008 will include blasting operations that will require lane shifts and some brief traffic stoppages. Two-way traffic will be maintained at all times but motorists should anticipate and plan for minor delays.

Weaver Brothers Construction of Bow, New Hampshire is the contractor for the $1.6 million project, which is scheduled to be completed in 2009.
