

American Association of University Professors, UNH Chapter v. University System of New Hampshire, Decision No. 2007-039 (Case No. U-0613-16).

Union claimed that university committed unfair labor practice by interfering with union through direct dealing. PELRB dismissed union's complaint finding that interim university president's e-mail to entire university community, including union members, sent after university and union reached an impasse, was not intended to interfere with the union and had de minimis impact.
