

Innovation in Data Dissemination Award

In 2010, this distinguished award, The Annual Innovation in Data Dissemination Award is awarded to The New Hampshire Insurance Department and the Commissioner's Advisory Committee on Health Insurance for their Healthcost website.

While the Elliot M. Stone Award of Excellence in Health Leadership is intended for an individual, the Innovation in Data Dissemination Award is designed to be awarded to an organization. The NAHDO Board of Directors is established this award in 2009 to recognize the importance of effectively communicating health data to the public. Through this award NAHDO honors New Hampshire's Insurance Department commitment to providing information on the price of medical care in New Hampshire by insurance plan and by procedure as well as the estimate price of medical care for the uninsured through the Healthcost website.

NAHDO applauds the New Hampshire Insurance Department and the Commissioner's Advisory Committee on Health Insurance dedication to offering New Hampshire's consumers and employers information about the price of health care services and insurance on your website <http://www.nhhealthcost.org/default.aspx> based on the information provided through the New Hampshire Comprehensive Health Care Information System.
