

POETRY OUT LOUD

brought to you by:

The NH State Council on the Arts is connecting local poets with Poetry Out Loud schools to offer workshops for deeper learning in poetry and performance. These workshops will be offered on a first-come first-served basis and are available to POL schools at no cost.

School POL Coordinators:

1. Review the list of poets and list of workshop topics available.
2. Contact any poet directly to discuss workshop theme and scheduling. Poets may visit a maximum of 4 classes per day on a school visit. If you have more than 4 classes participating in POL, you may schedule a second day. Workshops can be scheduled from October 2020 - February 2021.
3. Coordinate and communicate any visitor requirements directly with the visiting poet. See attached list of poets available.
4. After workshop details have been confirmed between the school and the poet, notify the NH State Council on the Arts by filling out this form. Poets will be compensated directly by the NH State Council on the Arts.
5. You will be asked to complete a post-workshop survey within two business days of the workshop.

Any questions can be directed to the NH Poetry Out Loud Coordinators:

Caitlin Delaney

Poetry Out Loud Coordinator
603-512-9710 | nhpol.coordinator@gmail.com

Cassandra Mason

Grants Officer
603-271-7926 | cassandra.mason@dncr.nh.gov
NH State Council on the Arts | Arts Education Program | NH Arts Learning Network | Poetry Out Loud

All of the poets on this list have been juried by the NH State Council on the Arts.

Contact these poets directly to schedule a workshop

Poet	Email	Hometown
Michael Cobb	truepnny@gmail.com	Concord
Michael Cobb is a vocal coach who has taught at theatres and Universities across the country including the Guthrie Theater, the American Repertory Theatre, and Denver Center for the Performing Arts. He served for seven years as the Head of Voice, Speech, and Text at the National Theatre Conservatory in Denver.
Ewa Chrusciel	echrusc@gmail.com	Henniker
Ewa Chrusciel has three books in English with Omnidawn Press: Strata (2018), Off Annunciations (2017), Contraband of Hoopoe (2014) and three books in Polish: Furkot (2003), Sopiłki (2009), and Tobolek (2016). She is also a translator of literature and an Associate Professor of Humanities at Colby-Sawyer College.
Brian Evans-Jones	brian@brianevansjones.com	Seacoast
Brian Evans-Jones is a former Poet Laureate of Hampshire, UK, now living in New England. His poems have appeared in magazines and competitions in America and Britain, and he is the poetry winner of the 2017 Maureen Egen Writers Exchange Award from Poets & Writers. Brian has taught creative writing to children and adults since 2005 and regularly runs poetry residencies and workshops in schools and other venues.
Alice B Fogel	Alicebfogel@hotmail.com	Walpole
Alice Fogel was NH's Poet Laureate from 2013-2019. She has led poetry appreciation workshops with people of all ages and backgrounds. Among her publications is Strange Terrain, a guide to appreciating poetry without having to "get" it.
James Kates	jkates@worldpath.net	Fitzwilliam
J. Kates is a poet, literary translator and the president and co-director of Zephyr Press, focusing on contemporary works in translation from Russia, Eastern Europe and Asia. He has been awarded a National Endowment for the Arts Creative Writing Fellowship, and the Cliff Becker Book Prize.
Rodger Martin	rodgerwriter@myfairpoint.net	Hancock
Rodger Martin's fourth book, a Chinese/English collection of his own and Chinese poets was published in 2017. He is a co-founder and previous state coordinator for NH Poetry Out Loud and an active leader within the Monadnock Writer's Guild.
Mark Palos	mark.palos@gmail.com	Manchester
Mark Palos has been coach of the NH National Poetry Slam Team since 2008. Mark has conducted workshops on performance and public speaking on the high school and college level.
Andrew Periale	aperiale@gmail.com	Strafford
Andrew has had a career in theatre and puppetry, now teaches creative writing, art and music. He is previous NH state coordinator for Poetry Out Loud, and has been a judge at regional and state finals.

Checklist. What to discuss prior to poet visit

- Workshop date and time availability
- Will the workshop be in-person or online?
- How many classes will the poet be leading workshops with?
  - Each poet can lead up to 4 classes per day. If you have more than four classes doing POL in your school, you can request a second day or work with another poet.
- What grade level are the classes; how many students per class?
- Will there be any breaks in the middle of the day?
- Does the poet need any prior clearance to visit the school?
- How early should the poet arrive before the first workshop?
- Collaboratively discuss workshop theme and goals.
- Do you have any students with special needs? Discuss strategies for scaffolding workshop content so all learners can participate.
- Discuss resource materials: Will there be handouts, and is the teacher able to make copies? Does your classroom have wi-fi? Do you have a white board?
- Complete the post-workshop survey within two business days of poet visit.

Workshop Themes

Below are sample workshop themes you could discuss with the visiting poet prior to the visit. What would add to your instruction and bring excitement to students learning poetry and recitation?

- Selecting a poem and finding personal resonance
- Cadence and performing poetry: recitation without acting
- Contextual analysis: taking the poem apart and putting it back together
- Tone mapping
- Writing your own poetry