

Farmington Educational Support Personnel Association, NEA-New Hampshire v. Farmington School District, Decision No. 2006-039 (Case No. M-0621-1).

Union's claim that district committed unfair labor practice arose from disagreement as to interpretation of amount of wage increase and from district's decision not to ratify tentative agreement. Finding that district made unilateral mistake in negotiations and committed unfair labor practices, PELRB ordered district to execute, and adhere to, written collective bargaining agreement and make payments to members of bargaining unit owed them under contractual wage increase.
