CONCORD, New Hampshire – The Department of Safety is investigating reports of multiple bomb threats that appear to be targeting various colleges and universities across the State of New Hampshire.

A preliminary investigation has revealed that on Tuesday, August 2, 2022, the same phone number was used to make bomb threats to approximately 10 higher education facilities in the state. The caller, who may be from overseas, appears to be using a spoofed number.

At this time, the Department has no information to indicate any of the threats are credible. The Department is working closely with local, state, and federal law enforcement partners; and coordinating with the targeted institutions to share information.

A law enforcement investigation is underway.

Anyone who receives a bomb threat should contact law enforcement immediately.

###

About the Department:
The New Hampshire Department of Safety is one of the largest departments of state government, with more than 2,200 full-time, part-time, non-classified, and seasonal employees functioning in both uniformed and civilian capacities throughout the State. The Department affects the lives of all New Hampshire residents and visitors by enforcing criminal, motor vehicle and boating laws, and providing for fire safety, fire and emergency medical training, emergency communications and disaster planning. Established by the New Hampshire General Court in 1961, the Department consists of the divisions of Administration, Emergency Services and Communications, Fire Safety (Office of the State Fire Marshal), Fire Standards and Training & Emergency Medical Services, Homeland Security and Emergency Management, Motor Vehicles and State Police. Follow us on Twitter, like us on Facebook and connect with us on LinkedIn.

“To continually enhance the safety, security and quality of life in New Hampshire through professional, collaborative and innovative service to all.”